Remarks

Summary of Rejections of Pending Claims

- a. Claims 1, 4, 5, and 7 have been rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103 as being unpatentable over Mangerson, USPN 6,504,138 in view of Han et al., USPP 2002/0051242.
- b. Claim 3 has been rejected under 35 U.S.C. §103 as being unpatentable over Mangerson in view of Han et al. and Sasaki, USPN 5,674,012.

Arguments for Patentability

a. Obviousness Rejections of Claims 1, 4, 5, and 7

The allegation in the Office Action on page 3, second paragraph that Mangerson does not have a user input device is clearly erroneous. Mangerson has one and needs one. Specifically, in col. 8, lines 25-32 Mangerson clearly intends that OCR can be selectively triggered by a user input and indeed a keyboard/mouse controller 144 and keyboard BIOS ROM 145 are provided, see Mangerson, figure 1 and col. 4, lines 20-26 and 48-52. Thus, not only is the allegation underlying the rejections clearly erroneous as a matter of fact, any modification to Mangerson that would omit the keyboard/mouse would prevent OCR triggering by a user as intended by Mangerson and thus would be improper, MPEP §2143.01 (citing In re Gordon). The rejections are overcome.

b. Obviousness Rejection of Claim 3

Claim 3 inherits the patentability of its base claim and thus is patentable.

The fact that Applicant has focussed its comments distinguishing the present claims from the applied references and countering certain rejections must not be construed as acquiescence in other portions of rejections not specifically addressed.
